

- Departments, not the Graduate College, shall decide whether or not students may include their own previously published, press, multiauthored materials (e.g. journal articles or excerpts), and how many they may include in their document. This is a matter of departmental discretion, decided in accordance with each department's relevant procedures.
- A thesis/dissertation

