

Sections Used in the Tenure and/or Promotion Application Vita for Non-Teaching Faculty

The vita is just one of the components you will include as part of your Tenure and/or Promotion application. Below is a list of sections that are used to populate the vita in UNLV Folio. For more information on the Tenure and/or Promotion process or the other components to include in your application, please see the Tenure and Promotion Guide.

Profile

Current Position

This section displays academic rank and position information. More than one position may be displayed. Information here is obtained directly from Workday and therefore cannot be edited.

Tenure and Promotion History

This section includes information on when you attained your academic rank at UNLV and, if applicable, information development. Participation is primarily as an attendant rather than a presenter.

Sections Used in the Tenure and/or Promotion Application Vita development). Examples include, but are not limited to, serving as an editor/reviewer, guest speaker, student advisor,